A realization of the vast extent of the British Empire and its products has been brought about by exhibits which different parts of the Empire have staged at fairs such as Wembley and the people of Britain now thoroughly understand that the Empire does not consist of the British Isles only, Exhibition Commissioner A. W. Tolmie, who is a visitor in Victoria to-day, says.

'The people of the British Isles realize they cannot live with in themselves, and that there are other parts of the Empire besides the little islands on which they live. They are in the mood now when they go to a store to ask for an article made within the

BROUGHT BIG ORDERS

For the twenty years Canada has been staging exhibits it has reaped its reward. "The effect on Canadian trade is marked." said Mr. Toimie. "British Columbia saimon and lumber trade has especially benefited. One order alone for lumber amounted to more than the total export for 1923. This order was directly traceable to the Canadian exhibit at Wembley. The salmon trade received a won-derful impetus as a result of the display in the Canadian pavilion, which incidentally attracted at least two-thirds of the 28,000,000 who visited the great exhibit during 1924 and the great exhibit during 1924 and 1925.

"Eastern Canada also benefited by the exhibit. In fact many firms made connections which have necessitated the establishment of branch distributing houses in the Old Country. This especially applies to firms manufacturing rubber shoes, boots, running shoes and overshoes."

Oscar Turcotte Made Equally Fine Impression in New Zealand as at Wembley

Fresh from the organization of a wonderfully successful display of sixty-four Canadian ex-hibitors at the Dunedin Inter-national Exhibition, New Zea-land, Oscar Turcotte, the master panel architect of the Canadian pavilion at Wembley, arrived here this morning aboard R.M.S. Aorangi from New Zearived here this morning aboard R.M.S. Aorangi from New Zealand. Having carried out the plans and features of one of the most attractive displays in the exhibition at Wembley, Mr. Turcotte, a French-Canadian, was sent to Dunedin in charge of the Canadian Government's section of the exhibit there. His success with this work, as in the case of his efforts in England, was marked and praised by all who visited the Canadian pavilion. The Dunedin exhibition was opened November 17 and closed May 1. During that time 3,300,00 guests were welcomed into the pavilions of the nations represented there. The majority of the exhibits were commercial, Mr. Turcotte stated this morning. They were arranged in such a way, however, as to attract the most casual observer, and the interest displayed by all who saw them was flattering to those who had arranged the displays.

Although Australia was four days away from New Zealand, there were thousands of tourists from the big Commonwealth cities who through the Dunedin exhibition loat were crowded with those seeking the pleasures of the gigantic display. The guarantors of the exhibition lost nothing, owing to the able management and splendid advertising carried out.

Mr. Turcotte was the originator of the famous grain and grasses effect by which rural life was presented in such picturesque and realistic fashion in the panels around the Main Court of the Canadian pavilion at Wemble. His work at Dunedin, although on a smaller scale, was of a similar nature and of equal merit, and consisted of a series of tableaux with unique lighting effects, representative of moonlight and sunlight.

Mr. Turcotte was welcomed at the wharf when he arrived here to-day by friends who had met him in England whiel he was engaged in his work at Wembley. He is on his way to Eastern Canada. CHURCH CONGRESS Weather Interfered With the Events of Catholic Gathering in Chicago District sions on duodenal ulcers, presenting a series of radiographs. He showed that X-ray diagnosis has attained great success with development of a skilful technic. This equipment was not advanced as a curative agent but rather as an aid to the surgeon, giving exact information as to conditions existent.

Dr. H. C. Moffit, of San Francisco, dealt with medical aspects of the problem. He had noted an increase in recent years of incidence of ulcer of the stomach or duodenum, whether due to influenza he could not definitely say, but occurrences of ulcer have generally been found to follow serious illnesses or other causes of weakened resistance. They are now known to be a common disease, though little is known of the cause. Dr. Moffitt agreed that expert radiological examination is invaluable, but urged the need of giving due weight to other symptoms, the combination making diagnosis certain in almost all cases. Abrupt onset of symptoms in youth frequently indicate appendicitis, while similar attacks in later life are often fround to originate in cancer. Dr. Moffitt brought this to the fore when discussing symptoms in detail, and Jullining medical dreatments frequently successful.

Dr. Fr. N. G. Starr of Toronto presented the surgeon's viewpoint on duodenal ulcers, and with views illustrated operative methods. He stressed the need for examination of the appendix and gall bladder when operating for ulcer, citting cases where these organs have been affected.

Dr. Starr closed with a dietetic summary for convalencents from one ing, each giving way to tears.

Mr. Donaghy said Mr. Stevens had not taken advantage of the opportunity to have Senator Bureau, former Minister of Customs brought before the committee. "The onus of that charge rests upon the man who made it. Let him tell why he failed, declared Mr. Donaghy.

At this point Mr. Stevens rose to reply, amid shouts of "order."

Mr. Donagh continued: "No attempt was made to bring the Senator before the committee. Why was not his secretary called? Now I pause for an answer."

"The answer is this," replied Mr. Stevens. "The Duncan report was read. During the reading of that report certain portions of an unfortunate personal character were omitted—of a character which would cast reflections on the personality of a minister. Members of the committee of thought it undesirable to bring out things of an intimate nature because it would have entailed the dragging of the whole business before the public. Mr. Donaghy said he had voted for the report as read, because his first consideration had been that the committee should bring in a unanimous report on which action could be taken to better conditions in the country. He had voted for that report in the belief that any other matters affecting persons and personalities could be brought up during the present debate.

the source of the present and great Eucharistic Congress was traced back by the speaker to intrepid early missionary explorers.

"Like two sisters," he said, referring to the Roman Catholic Church of Canada and of the United States, "divided as to race and territory, but one in belief, both have been reared in devotion to the same faith and in submission to the same Apostolic See. How can we forget aith and in submission to the same typostolic See. How can we forget hat the very source of triumph we are witnessing to-day is to be found in the obscure lives of a few Can-dian missionaries who, on American foll, wrote some of the most beauti-ul pages of the history of the

More than 150,000 male pilgrims members of the Holy Name Society renewed their piedge of fidelity to the Roman Catholic Church and to their order at Soldier's Field.

COMMISSIONER TOLME COMMISSIONER TOLMIE

THREE MOTIONS ON CUSTOMS FOR VOTES OF M.P.'S Canada has been staging exhibits since 1901, the commissioner mentioned, embracing exhibitions in the United States, Japan, Belgium, Italy and England. Mr. Tolmic's connection with the Dominion displays, which have been the outstanding features of so many fairs, began in 1908 at London, and since then he has been charged with the responsibility of the Canadian displays at London, Seattle, Brussels, Ghent, San Francisco, San Diego and Wembley, Serious difficulties and problems were surmounted in building the great pavilion at Wembley, on which 650 workers were employed at one time. It contained 3,000,000 feet of Canadian timber and the main building covered an area of 415x289 feet, while the Canadian Pacific Rafiway each had 10,000 square feet at the end of the pavilion. Everything in the structure was Canadian-made with the exception of the plaster, cement and glass.

FIRMLY ON THE MAP

"Only those who have been permitted to dig beneath the surface can appreciate the magnificent and highly efficient work which Mr. Tolmie has put in at Wembley," a Canadian envoy to England wrote at the time of the fair. The average Canadian, the writer went on to say, pursuing the even tenor of his way at home, knew nothing of the obstacles which the exhibition commissioner has to surmount. He had no conception of the problems which a series of peculiar strike epidemics presented to Mr. Tolmie, but through the display he eventually staged, Mr. Tolmie put Canada firmly on the map at Wembley. That the Canadian display successfully achieved its purpose is further demonstrated by a quotation of Lovat Fraser, well-known British journalist, in The Sunday Pictorial. "I defy anybody," he wrote, "to visit the Canadian building without wanting to rush off to Canada by the next boat."

Dr. Hill pointed out that modern medical study of school pupils has proven invaluable as a source of data, the $,000 Vancouver children checked showing that incidence of infection in mal-nourished children to be within two or three decimal points of the mark set by the well nounished children.

"We proved that the mal-nourished child is no more liable to scarlet fever or other diseases than is the well nourished," he asserted, comtattling as failactes the theories of Bernard McFadden on this matter. Changes in nutrition standards in the Vancouver schools in 1924-25 had reduced the mal-nutrition pupils from twenty-five per cent of the altendance to 16.7 per cent, but made no change in the tabulations as to liability to sickness.

Experiments with rats showed that eighty per cent of a group of controls infected with pneumonia died, while eighty per cent of another group, artifically fatigued to extremity, recovered when given the same Ineumonic injection.

Of these only fourteen had been recommended by the Canadian Medical Association for inclusion in the new edition of The British Pharmaccepia; although, he added, some ten additional ones might have been suggested had not technical reasons, particularly patents, prevented recommendation. Of these twenty-four remedies nine were tools of the general practitioner, while the rest were instruments of the experts. In the medical profession, Dr. Henderson declared the public had to recognize that a great many medicinal substances could be used only by experts. Yet many newer remedies were being extensively advertised and ever used in random fashion by the profession before they had been tested sufficiently to lay a firm foundation for their use. In consequence enormous sums of money were wasted annually to the detriment of the country's health. teen years some 200 new chemi

A REAL-LIFE THRILLER

THE REGION OF WHICH LOS ANGELES is the centre has been the scene of many thrilling experiences—on the screen—but for strenuous action and audacious plot not many have surpassed the adventures of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, the celebrated evangelist, which, as recounted by her, were published in The Times yesterday.

Chloroformed and kidnapped from a popular bathing beach almost in the midst of a throng of people; gagged, bound and carried by motor car to obscure place across the Mexican border; held fo ransom, tortured to give out certain information which would facilitate her captors' scheme for extorting money from her friends; sawing her bonds on a convenient can and after escaping through a window staggering to a settlement where she falls unconscious -all these high-lights of her harrowing experience are to be found in the conventional picture thriller. There is only one omission, and that is the absence of the conventional hero, unless we can so consider the American who brought the evangelist across the border to the Arizona town where she now lies.

The prominence of Mrs. McPherson made her disappearance some weeks ago a sensation of the first magnitude. It was featured in the press of Europe only a little less conspicuously than on this con Her reappearance and her narrative of the extraordinary things that befell her form a climax no less startling. Altogether it is one of the most dramatic stories of this generation. There will be much rejoicing over her return-and a corresponding amount of cursing from the desperate villains over whose wickedness virtue has triumphed once more.

ENTERPRISING BIDDY

IF ANYBODY DOUBTS THE CAPACITY of the domestic hen to accommodate herself to the ways of a young and growing country it is only necessary to refer to statistics recently issued by the Department of Natural Resources at Ottawa. These show that she has followed the white man all over this Dominion and has played an important part in sustaining the settler. Her family has become extremely large and her spirit of contentment so obvious that it is forgotten that, after all she is an alien. because her native heath is in a warmer zone. But, as The Toronto Globe in commenting upon her part in the growth of Canada points out, she stays and thrives, if given half a chance, and yearly becomes a more valuable asset.

The value of the hen, moreover, is something by no means overlooked by the Bureau of Statistics Figures compiled by this Department of the public service show that, based on export prices, she is worth about eighty-five cents, so that the 54,938,000 of her flock in this country-1924 figures-represented an asset of $46,697,000. As market day evenue this would be more, perhaps, and when it is borne in mind that the eggs produced in 1924 were valued at $65,000,000 some idea is obtained of what the hen amounts to annually as a going concern. This is a gross output of $1.40 for each dollar of capital investment, at the cost of some care, and only food and shelter for the toilers. And the capital remains in a highly liquid state. Few industrial enterprises could show such returns.

FORTUNATELY IT IS ONLY ON RARE occasions that it is necessary to inflict capital punishment on a woman in Great Britain. But when the circumstances appear to warrant it there is seldom very little hesitation in allowing the law to take its prescribed course. This morning at Manchester the executioner sprung the trap under Mrs. Louise Calvert, her crime being that of strangling her landlady. and, although she maintained her innocence until the eleventh hour, it is understood that she made a full confession of the crime just before being led to the scaffold, and met death quite stoically. The last time a woman met a similar fate was after the famous Byfleet murder, the feminine victim on that occasion being proved guilty of abetting her paramour in poisoning her husband. Both man and woman were treated alike.

The thing that strikes American commentators on crime is the speed with which the law is enforced and justice dispensed in British countries. Neither in Canada nor in the British Isles is sentiment allowed to play any more than very insignificant part. Murder cases in particular go to trial at once and the lawyer who sets himself the task of trying to get his client off is usually obliged to confine his efforts to the actual evidence which has a direct bearing on the case at bar. Canadian and Old Country courts are never the scene of roving commissions over a sea of irrelevancies. If an alienist is required his services are employed; but the courtroom is not turned into a forum for a general -for-all in which gentlemen who earn large fees as "brain" specialists participate. Because of this the murderer in Canada and Britain usually pays the price which the law prescribes for his crime.

THE WILLOWS PROPERTY

TT MAY BE TAKEN FOR GRANTED that the City Council will give much serious thought to any proposition for the purchase of the Willows fair grounds which may come before it. It is scarcely necessary to emphasize the value of the asset Victoria has in that area, that we shall continue to have agricultural and industrial exhibitions and that it is desirable that these be held in premises controlled by the city. If we disposed of the Willows property, eventually we would have to establish another exhibit tion centre, and where is there a site as good as the one we have? We assume also that as this is public property the public will be given the fullest information regarding any offer that may be received. In any case, the property should be retained by the city unless it shall receive so exceptional a proposition that it would be folly to reject it. We doubt very much if such an offer will be made.

AFTER THE MITCHELL CONTROVERSY

RECENTLY THE UNITED STATES Senate approved a bill to authorize an annual expenditure for army aviation of $40,000,000 on a five-year programme. This provides for the construction of a total of 1,800 aeroplanes and as many airships and balloons as the Secretary of War may

On the day after this measure went through, the Senate passed another, which authorizes the navy to spend $85,000,000 for its branch of the air service of the country over a five-year period. This provides for the construction of 1,947 aeroplanes and two rigid dirigibles considerably larger than the Shenandoah, together with a substantial increase in the navy's flying personnel, and the purchase of a small duralumin-covered airship for experimental purposes. The army aviation bill, moreover, authorizes the addition of 403 officers to the newly-designated Air Corps and sufficient enlisted men to bring its number up to

This new programme about to be launched by the United States is obviously a bid for supremacy in the air. It will give the country as many aeroplanes as Great Britain, Italy, and Japan combined have in commission at the present time, and place it next to France in this respect, that republic now having approximately 5,500 aeroplanes on the effective list.

It is an interesting development on the part of our neighbor because it comes on the heels of the controversy which raged about the head of Colonel Mitchell. His charges of unpreparedness in this respect were of a sensational nature and made in a sensational way, so much so, moreover, that the punishment which his court-martial prescribed was sufficient to persuade him to resign from the service

In a reference to this officer The Cincinnati Enquirer says the bills recently passed do not provide 'all that Colonel Mitchell and his friends desired, but they constitute a tremendous stride forward in the direction of sane preparedness." The Chicago Journal of Commerce says that controversy "has resulted in a remarkable benefit." Colonel Mitchell's mistake, of course, was his defiance of all disciplinary rules and the altogether unusual method which he employed to attract attention to what he considered a serious situation.

Aimee Semple McPherson's narrative is a real thriller, not a reel one.

While reading Aimee Semple McPherson's account of her thrilling experiences yesterday we could not help wondering where Tom Mix and Tony were

If China had an institution as reactionary as our Senate there would be another civil war over it. The complacence with which this branch of our Parliament has been tolerated by the Canadian people is a rather disquieting symptom.

CITIZENS FOR FARMERS

From The Regina Leader

British people resident in towns and cities should not be hesitant about coming to Canada to engage in agriculture simply because they have not had farming experience. There are sons of the Old Country in these Western Provinces, men who had no agricultural experience prior to coming to Canada, whose names have become household words because of the conspicuous success they have achieved as farmers.

AN ISLAMIC LEAGUE

AN ISLAMIC LEAGUE

From The Toronto Globe

Since the Angora Government deposed the Sultan and abolished the Khalifate a new influence has been recognized in Islam. With the acceptance by Turkey of a system of rule divorced from religion, and the adoption of European manners and customs, the spirit of unrest and change has spread far beyond the confines of the Ottoman Republic. New ideas appear to be rife in Egypt, in Syria and in Persia, and are apparently beginning to affect the vast Mohammedan population of India. Agitators infested with the unsettling views of Mestapha Kemal Pasha and his Ministers are spreading a doctrine of disbellef in Islamic traditions, and at the same time are preaching the principle of Moslem unity. How far the real mind of even the Turkish public has responded to these modern conceptions, so destructive of a long-prevailing order of things, it is impossible yet to determine. Constantinople has murmured at the emancipating policy of Angora, but it has obeyed the orders issued by the president of the nation and the head of the army. Nor has the Moslem world beyond the boundaries of Anatolia expressed any decided disapproval of the radical departures made by Turkey.

Save that the third word of this Save that the third word of this expression should be "kiddle," it is very old, dating back to the days of the Plantagenets. The warder of the tower at that time claimed the right to catch fish outside Traitor's Gate by trapping them in a kiddle—a basket-like arrangement placed in the water. Citizens of London systematically raided the kiddles and did away with the contents, and he was wont to remark, "A pretty kiddle of fish, indeed," upon discovering the damage.

NEW YORK TRAFFIC WAS HELD UP FOR "LILIES OF STREET"

As the dashing flapper daughter of a wealth family in the filming of the thrilling drama of crime's pitfalls, "Lilies of the Streets," showing this week at the Playhouse, Virginia Lee Corbin, had the unique experience of having Fifth Avenue traffic Reid up for ten minutes during the busiest part of a busy week day, while her director shouted, two cameramen "shot" and an amazed crowd gaped, as she piloted a high-powered roadster for a few blocks on the wrong side of the street. Her "arrest" by one of New York's finest, six feet four of traffic "cop," ended the incident, an unusual bit of realism in a unique setting.

FARM LIFE FIRST CALLED FILM PLAYERS IN "ELLA CINDERS"

Emily Gerdes, noted for her eccentric characterizations on the screen, with her work in Colleen Moore's latest First National release, "Elli Cinders," now at the Capitoi Theatre, as latest attest of her talents, is a product of the farm. Born near independence, Kan, her father of German extraction, her mother Scotch and English, she became a resident of Warrensburg, Mo, at the age of six years, and after two years she graced a chicken farm near Pheonix, Aria, on the edge of the desert, until her fourteenth year. In the meantime she attended school at the little town of Glendale, and during loitering interludes between school hours and time to feed the chickens she was wont to dream under the cottonwoods of a career as a singer or musician.

Music, however, did not have much chance to claim Miss Gerdes after the next move by her folks, which brought them to Los Angeles, movie mecca.

But with the ownership of the car comes all sorts of trouble for the speedy car sets a pace in more ways than one. This comedy is one of the most enjoyable staged for a long time. It is a very up-to-date play and deals with the question of the possession of automobiles by those who cannot afford them. The young man in this play can neither afford to run or keep his car, and is only saved from serious trouble by the janitor who has his own ideas of "making extra

MOODS OF DIRECTOR

Much is said about directors cheering stars and employing blandishments or wiles to overcome possible gloominess when it rains or other woes assail the actor.

But—the rule works both ways, according to Marion Davies, famous Cosmopolitan star. Miss Davies contends that the poor director needs cheering up even more than the average actor, and so makes it a rule to study the director's moods. If he's nervous or apprehensive, she seeks to restore his good nature and joke him into confidence. After all, carefree directors make the best pictures, she contends. "A smile sfid full co-operation can do much to help the director and thus help the whole bad chap. "I can't stand being the contends."

The Fox had arisen, and was looking sharply at the Alligator, who was hurrying down the road whisting a tune about water lilies.

"I know what it is! I know why the Skillery Scallery chap with the double-jointed tall is so jolly and happy!" snapped the Fox.

"Why?" asked the Wolf.

"Because the 'Gator is going to catch Uncle Wiggily," answered the Fox. "That swampy chap must have some plan for getting that rabbit. That's why he is hurrying along so fast, and why he whistles so loudly.

GRANDMOTHER

I am so sorry I haven't room to print the little poem you sent me. I too feel that it were better that mothers gave their children some of the love and attention and cudding during life instead of weeping over their graves. But one mustn't be too harsh with the daughter-in-law. It seems hardly possible that anyone could be so dead to all maternal emotions as you have painted her. She may have been trying to do for the small boy and had he lived you might have applauded the results of her strict training. It seems too her strict training. It seems too awful to accuse a mother of the wilful, criminal neglect which caused a child's death.

Mrs. O. P. K.—A four-months-old child who is doing as well as your baby is, can easily go for the four-hour nursing intervais. # AORANGI JUST FAILS TO SPOKEN LOWER HER SPEED RECORD

Large Canadian-Australian Motorship Averaged 171/4 Knots Per Hour Between Honolulu and Victoria; Liner Brought a Total of 660 Passengers From Australasia and Honolulu A

Averaging seventeen and a quarter knots per hour between Honolulu, her last port of call, and Victoria, a distance of 2,430 miles, the giant Canadian-Australasian motorship Aorangi just failed to lower her record run between ports, established on her failed to lower her record run between ports, established on her last voyage north, by the small margin of a quarter of a knot. When the vessel set up the record last trip she averaged seventeen and a half knots per hour during the odd 2,000-mile trip. Capt. Robert Crawford, skipper of the ship, stated upon arrival here that the voyage had been a splendid one, fine weather being experienced, with the exception of a few hours of fog.

Last night at 10 o'clock the captain and officers of the Aorangi experienced to arrive at the William Head at quarantine station at 7.30 o'clock this morning, but during the night exceptionally heavy reverse currents were met, the vessel being slowed up as a result. If the Aorangi had arrived at William Head at 8 o'clock instead of fifteen minutes past nine, she would have established a new record between Victoria and Honolulo.

The Aorangi's Diesel engines have stood up remarkably well and have not given any trouble since the vessel was commissioned on the Victoria-Australia route. The Aorangi arrived here twenty-four hours ahead of time but this was due to the fact that she made excellent connections at all ports.

An exceptionally heavy list of passengers was brought in by the Aorangi, there being a total of 660 Aorangi.

The Anacortes-Sidney and Bell-ingham-Sidney ferries have also carried more cars and passengers for this time of the year than for this period in 1925, the Puget Sound Navigation Company stated to-day.

An exceptionally heavy list of passengers was brought in by the Aorangi, there being a total of 660 travelers in all classes, including 286 first class, 218 second class and 156 third class passengers.

The Aorangi brought a light consignment of cargo, there being only 1,248 tons in her hatches all told. For Victoria the vessel had thirty-two tons of general freight, while Vancouver's cargo amounted to 1,128 tons, the remainder being for points outside of British Columbia.

A total of 236 bags of mail were set down here, including eight for Eddie Hubbard, the air mail pilot. Thirty-two sacks were for local distribution, the remainder being for various points in the United States. The Aorangi cleared at 1 o'clock for Vancouver.

David Leckie, well known head of the Leckie Hardware stores of the B.C. interior, was a passenger on R.M.S. Aorangi, which docked this morning from Australia and New Zealand. Mr. Leckie, who is accompanied by his wife, is returning from a three months' pleasure cruise which took them down the Pacific Coast to California points, and thence to Australia via Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Leckie are now on the way to their home at Kelowna, where Mr. Leckie lives in retirement after building up an extensive hardware business. James Rolph III., son of Mayor James Rolph, accompanied by his bride, returned from Honolulu yesterday aboard the Matson liner Wilhelmina. A large number of island school teachers on their way to the National Educational Association convention at Philadelphia, arrived on the Wilhelmina. The company's liner Maul sailed for the islands at noon with every stateroom filled, carrying a total passenger list of 250, the largest outgoing list of the present season.

An exciting time was spent by the passengers aboard R.M.S. Aorangiupon her arrival at Watson's Bay, Sydney Harbor, and where the immigration officials and doctor board vessels before docking at Sydney, upon the Aorangi's last trip from Victoria and Vancouver, it was learned upon the arrival of the motorship here this morning.

Robert Ashby, Warrant-Officer aboard the Aorangi, who is so well-known to the many passengers and who have traveled on the Aorangi was the centre of attraction. Naval intelligence officers and Water Police came aboard the vessel and with the Aorangi was searched from stem to stem with the object of arresting a deserted from the Royal Australian Navy. Six passengers were shadowed and cross-examined but the deserter was not found. Warrant-Officer Ashby has had a most interesting career. When his last trip to Canada from Great Britain aboard the Canadian Pacific transatiantic liner Empress of France he was personally guarded throughout the whole voyage across the Atlantic by Mr. Ashby.

When the Aorangi left Vancouver on her last trip south she was delayed thirty-one hours, but the vessel made remarkably fast time from this coast to Sydney arriving at Watson's Bay at 6 o'clock on Friday morning, May 28 and according to schedule she was not due until the next day.

Alberta's Resources To be Discussed

Ottawa, June 24.—Dealing with the question of the transfer of Alberta's natural resources from Federal to Provincial control, E. L. The fifth and last of the seiners will be launched in a week's time.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Princess-Alice was hauled out on the marine railway last night at $ o'clock for cleaning and painting. it will me proceed with the bill this session.

The significance of this is that while the Government's motion would remain on the paper, the specific question of Alberta resources could not be discussed in the House.

Mr. Church has a separate motion demanding the text of the reference of the question to the Supreme Court of Canada, who will be Government counsel, who "implied doubts" as to the validity of the Alberta Act, and other questions on the same subject.

H. O. Bell-Irving, Back From Antipodes, Stresses Worth of Trade Treaty

"It is most desirable that Canada, Australia and New Zealand be as closely united as possible and we, at our end, should do all that lies in our power to cultivate intimate relations," said H. O. Bell-Irving, pioneer cannery man of British Columbis, who arrived in Victoria this morning aboard R.M.S. Acrangi from the Antipodes. "The present Reciprocal treaty between Canada and Australia, which went into effect recently," said Mr. Bell-Irving," is something that should be cultivated and kept, for it will mean much for both these great Dominions. The trade pact with New Zealand has been in existence for twenty years," he said, "and has been a boon to manufacturers of both countries. If the are well worth keeping and we should take care lest we endanger them."

Mr. Bell-Irving has been conferring with Australian and New Zealand authorities regarding the labeling of canned salmon, and is in hopes that shortly a uniform system will be adopted, he stated, by producers everywhere which would work to the advantage of themselves and of the consumers. Too long, he asserts, there has been a loop-hole for canners to place inferior goods on the market under a label of first-class produce. This hurts trade, he say, and must be remedled.

EXCELLENT MARKETS

New Zealand and Australia provide a good and steady market for British Columbia canners, says Mr. Bell-Irving. British Columbia has nearly all of New Zealand's business as far as canning is concerned. The markets in both places are substantal.

HOLSTEIN CATTLE LEAVE FOR JAPAN ON ARABIA MARU

Outbound for the Far East the O.S.K. liner Arabia Maru called here yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock from Seattle to pick uppassengers and mails. She departed again at 6.30 o'clock. The Arabia had aboard twenty-one head of purebred Holstein cattle consigned to breeders' associations in five distant parts of Japan.

The cattle included nineteen cows and three bulls, which were purchased by Helzo Shlonaya, graduate of the University of Wisconsin, from the Carnation Farm of Seattle, the State Hospital Farm at Stellacoom, the Dennybrook Farm at Bothel, the farm of Lee Brothers at Mount Vernon, and the farm of Thomas Jewes at Kirkland.

met Zane Gray, noted novelist, who was interesting himself at the time in fishing for giant sword fish, which range in weight from 150 to 900 pounds.

New Zealand's people, he found, were strongly imperialistic in their sentiments, and were a fine type of people, keen in business, thorough sportsmen and hospitable to all who visited their country. In Australia he found the same tendencies wherever he went.

Sydney is a wonderful city, said Mr. Bell-Irving, with its million and a quarter inhabitants. Melbourne was another thriving metropolis. There he had been impressed with the manner in which the city itself was laid out. Roads were wide and te buildings beautiful. Main traffic arteries were always over 100 feet wide, and the highways were 198 feet across.

Canberran, where the new Commonwelath capital will be situated, was chosen so as to eradicate the inter-provincial jealousy existing in Australia, said Mr. Bell-Irving. It was only in the building when he visited the place, but will be one of the most beautiful spots in Australia, he believes, when completed, with all its great public buildings and parks, reclaimed from the heart of the wild and arid southerly borderland of New South Wales. It is expected the the new capital will be formarry opened next year, he says.

The remainder of the crew had not landed on the Island when Superintendent Henry reported by radio to C. H. When last seen the Falmouth was belching farmes through her deckhouse and her gas tank had exploded.

So great was the interest in the planet Saturn, of which an excellent view was seen, that it took the visitors about an hour and a haif to collete their examination of this object alone, only one person being able to look through the eyepiece at a time. Fully half the party was ings To-morrow

In the strike of carpenters in Victoria, which has been going on for over three weeks, negotiations have now reached a deadlock, neither employers nor workmen being prepared to agree to terms which would be acceptable to the other side.

J. D. McNiven, Deputy Minister of Labor, announced this afternoon that he has therefore decided to make a new attempt to effect a settlement. He has issued an invitation to the strike committee of the carpenters and a committee representing the builders, to a meeting at the Parilament Buildings at 10 o'clock to-morrow for the purpose of further discussing the situation, and if possible effecting a settlement.

This step, Mr. McNiven states, has not been prompted by either of the disputants, but is taken entirely on his own initiative.

Favorite Songs Sung at Open Concert in Hotel Grounds An entertainment of unusual interest was afforded the members of the medical convention last night, when, following the dinner at the Empress Hotel, the Arion Club gave some of its favorite songs in the hotel grounds.

The red clay tennis court made an excellent auditorium, a part of it being arranged with flags, of different nations as, a back curtain for the choir. The exceptional mildness of the evening, the beauty of the surrounding arches and trellies covered with vines in full flower, and the resonance of the beautifully trained voices made the occasion a memorable one to the many people gathered to enjoy it.

The choir, led by Herbert Kent, assistant conductor, received prolonged applause for its delightful rendition of the following songs: "Proudly As the Esgle." "Secret Love." "Sea Song." "Forsaken." "If But Knew," "The Three Chafers." "mage of the Rose," "The Jabber-wocky." "Lullaby" and "Good Night."

PIONEER VICTORIAN ANSWERS LAST CALL

W. A. ROBERTSON

Member of First Legislature in B.C. Passes in Ninetyfourth Year

Hundreds in Victoria will learn with regret of the death which occurred yesterday afternoon of W. A. Robertson, pioneer of 1863, who served this district in the Legislature, Council and School Board, at the residence of his son. W. A. V. Robertsan, 1343 Pembroke Street, aged ninety-four years. He had been confined to his bed for about twelve wently.

EARLY CAREER

Mr. Robertson was born in Woodsheal, near Blair Athol, Perthshire, Scotland, in 1882; and was brought to Canada at the age of two, being settled at Dunnville, in the Grand River district of Ontario, where his parents located. He grew up in childhood amid the distractions of the rebellion, when he said times in Canada were very dismal, securing such schooling as the district afforded before apprenticing himself to a blacksmith in the neighborhood. As he grew to manhood he formed a connection with another resident of the neighborhood and they went into business as blacksmiths and wagon makers. When he was less than thirty year of age, however, the American Civil War broke out, and like many other young men from Canada, he joined the Northern army, in a regiment of Scotsmen army, in a regiment of Scotsmen army, in a regiment of Scotsmen raised by the Federalists for patrol duties in the South.

He was sent down as lieutenant to the famous Shenandoah Valley, and was engaged in watching southern homes from looting when the second battle of Bull Run found him an active participant in the righting. After the engagement he was allowed, with other prisoners, to return to the northern lines, and that terminated his active participation in the war.

Wedding Party Assault Case in Cariboo Comes to Appeal Court

Wife, Frightened to Appear at Assizes, Swears Husband Innocent

While Arthur Bellos, a Greek miner and fur buyer, of the Cari-boo, now in the penitentiary serving a two and a half years' serving a two and a half years' sentence imposed by Mr. Justice Murphy at the Prince George assizes, his appeal against the sentence was set down to the bottom of the list to-day and will probably go over to the next sitting of the court in Vancou-

NEW AFFIDAVITS

New affidavits filed to support the claim that members of the jury had said they would convict Bellos on the charge of greivous bodily harm regardless of the evidence were filed and A. C. Brydon-Jack, counsel for Crown was not ready to proceed. H. Castillon_appearing for appellant.

WIFE'S PLEA

Since prisoner was accused of clubbing Richard Brotherson on the head in the Quebec roems, owned by Grace Ryan, at Prince George on June 28, the proprietor of the rooming house who has since the affair made an affidavit in which she says Sam Limberetos struck the blow. Limberetos with two other men, whom she says were drunk, forced their way into her premises, she alleges. Because the three men were well liked in Prince George she swears she became frightened to give evidence at the trial and left the town.

Frank Book, restaurant proprietor of Prince George in an affidavit swears several members of the jury, regardless of the evidence, had made up their minds to convict Bellos who has previously been convicted on a similar charge. Wallace Cheer, one of the jurymen. Richard Coreless, garage propfletor, Robert Crawford, stenographer, Joe Gagne, engineer, William Bellos hotel proprietor William Seymour, farmer, and Albert D. Young, stage driver make a similar statement in affidavits.

TWO WEDDINGS

During the trial it was brought out that prisoner was first arrested for an assault on Grace Ryan, which was alieged to have occurred when the men called after a wedding party. Bellos blamed the assault on Brotherson who he said knocked her down. Prisoner married her a few days afterwards, but in cross examination denied that he married her so she could not give evidence against him.

she could not give evidence against him.

The case of Rex vs. Iaci and Rick was before the Court of Appeal yesterday. This was an appeal by the accused from a sentence imposed at the Vancouver assises in a charge of assault. They were sentenced to imprisonment for eighteen months. The appeal was based on the grounds of insufficient evidence; no proper identification of the accused as the assailants; misdirection of the jury The accused were found guilty.

The Court of Appeal declined to disturb the verdict and sentence.

W. J. Taylor, K.C., and Mr. Sugarman appeared for the accused; and A. B. Macdonald, K.C., for the Crown.

Rev. Orville Daniels, B.A., in a fine address said that the best way to win a boy to Christ was to get out and play football and baseball with thim, rather than to get him in the front pew of a church and preach at him. After pleading for the use of simple language in sermons and Sunday school lessons, he said. "When you go out to preach, be sure that you always preach to the people who are there," said this speaker, quoting Dr. Gilmour, of Mc. Master College. The preacher, he said, who labored through a History of Old Testament Times" for a congression of collarless, shirt-sleeved lumberjacks had wasted his time.

You must grade your lessons and subjects, whether you want to or not," summarized Mr. Daniel, after recalling that he had heard of a teacher who had wasted his time talking to a group of ten-year-old boys on the subject of divorce.

Mrs. C. M. Staines also gave a fine talk on "Understanding the Child," urging the proper direction of a child's natural curiosity for the stimulation of knowledge. Rev. W. P. Freeman, B.A. spoke of the necessity of interesting the children and young people of the church.

Ball Control of Tourists Remarkable and Every Man, From the Hefty Full-backs to Small Wing Men, Streaked Over Ground; Victoria Had Few Good Openings; Showed Better Form in Second Period; Coulter Scored With Fast Drive After Ignoring Penalty

Football as it is played in England was demonstrated at the Royal Athletic Park last evening for the edification of 4,500 spectators. For ninety minutes the English tourists went through manoeuvres, the like of which have never been seen here before, and at the end had netted five goals. They also left the impression that, had the occasion demanded it, they could have stepped out and netted the ball more frequently. The valiant struggle waged by the Victoria All-stars resulted in an orphan tally, but that one counter softened the defeat and left the spectators happy.

There were many outstanding incidents in this game. First

There were many outstanding incidents in this game. First and foremost were the Englishmen themselves. They are on a visit to Canada as football missionaries, and their visit to Victoria visit to Canada as football missionaries, and their visit to Victoria revealed how big an improvement is required to elevate local soccer to the standard maintained in the land where the game was given birth. Team play, place-kicking, heading, ball control, trapping and shooting were done to perfection by the visitors. The arrangement of the team, with two big strapping backs, possessing powerful kicks and being good tacklers, with a forward line that had plenty of height at centre and at the two inside positions, with ample speed on the outsides, was in marked contrast to the local team.

SPORTSMANLIKE ACT

Second in importance to the display by the Englishmen was the exhibition of sportsmanship by Jack Coulter, centre forward of the Victoria Allstars. In the second half Coulter, was knocked down by Keeping, the English full-back, in a race for the hall inside the penalty area. Referee Stokes ordered a penalty shot after Coulter's knee joint had been placed back in position. There was a shout of protest from the sidelines, but no murmur from the Englishmen as Stokes placed the ball on the "spot." Coulter, instead of trying for a goal, kicked feebly into the hands of Sewell, the English goalie. After Sewell had cleared he rushed out and shook Coulter's hands and several of the other visiting players patted him on the back for his sportsmanship. The incident made a lasting impression on the Egishmen. As if to place a laurel wreath on the brow of a good sportsman Lady Fortune gave Coulter an opening to turn one of his lew, sizzling shots on the net, and Sewell failed to get his hands on it in time. It went for a well-deserved goal.

The Victoria team looked very good in defeat and the spots that the critics had picked as the weak ones showed up much better than expected. Reg Shanks, the youthful right half-back, and Joe Watt and Whyte, the full-backs, who have been under fire, stood the test remarkably well. They seemed to realize that they were on trial and they responded in a manner which did credit to themselves. They were not the weakest links in the team by a long shot.

SHRIMPTON A TARGET

Victoria made one of their spassmode broodle routers a houder one of their spassmod to first for the sale that they were for a goal. A fire Coulter, who outer was a shout the sale of the other proposed the ball when he was close in. Coulter fed the ball to Cummings, who raced down the wing and centred to Coulter, who outer goal. He hurried his shot and and the post of the goal in the goal mouth. Coulter got his head to it only to see sevel pick it out of the air and the post. The proposed the ball in the op whyte, the full-backs, who have been under fire, stood the test remarkably well. They seemed to realize that they were on trial and they responded in a manner which did responded in a manner which did responded in a manner which did the weakest links in the team by a long shot.

SHRIMPTON SHINES

Percy Shrimpton was one of the bright lights of the Victoria team. Throughout the tour Canadian goal-keepers have been the busiest men on the field, and this has given them a chance to stand out. Shrimpton was tested dozens of times last night, and he made saves that made the visitors look on with wonder. He tipped high ones over the bar, secoped hot drives out of the dirt, and did full-lengths to turn the bail outside the posts. Towards the close he made a daring clearance right off the toe of Wainscoat, and was knocked dizzy for a few secends by the force of the impact. Shrimpton's spectacular work kept the Englishmen from running the score higher. He was cleanly beaten on five shots.

Victoria attacked again and Cummings grazed the bar. Right afterwards Coulter was called back for offside. Then came the penalty shot, which Coulter refused to try to convert, and when the play went to the other end Shrimpton played the bail off the toe of Raylings and was knocked over.

Only for a few minutes in the second half did the Englishmen lose control of the game. The locals staged the toe of the special staged to the convert, and when the play went to the other end Shrimpton played the bail off the toe of Rawlings and was knocked over.

Tunstall treated the spectators to

Only for a few minutes in the second half did the Englishmen lose control of the game. The locals staged the only real movements by their forwards when Hay set them going. The ball came out to Clarkson at left wing and he made his only contribution of the night, which was a high deceptive lob. The ball came spinning down with Sewell apparently beaten. By a twist Sewell brought his arm back and the tips of his fingers managed to deflect the ball sufficiently to turn it outside the post and give a corner. Victoria stayed on the attack and Cameron turned in a smart shot and Hay launched a hot one that just topped the bar. Coulter retrieved the ball and slipped through. He fired a whistling shot from a distance, but the ball was a foot too high and went over the top. On one or two other occasions the locals slipped through, but they were enever really dangerous.

OPENED IN A HURRY

Victoria won the toss and Capt. Shrimpton elected to kick into the cast goal, which left the Englishmen with a high sun in their faces. From the kick-off the ball went out to Tunstall, who without hesitation took a low shot that hit the post. Shrimpton worked fast on a shot from Cross and left his net to deprive Rawlings of a goal. After Peden had relieved with his head Cross opened the secoring with a fine shot ten minutes after the game had started. Rawlings had Shrimpton on the ground right afterwards and Cross skied over the bar. Shrimpton punched out a high shot from Harris and Booker gave Rawlings a chance to use his head, but Shrimpton saved. Shrimpton dove for Rawlings's shot and the spectators gave the goalle a big hand.
Tunstall hit the cross-bar for the

The English player who probably left the biggest Impression with Victoria Tans last night was Tunstall, at outside left. He is a regular juggler with the ball. Tunstall was found by Sheffield United playing for Scuntherpe United and was signed on December 3, 1920. The next day, without the least hesitation on the part of Sheffield, he was played against Tottenham Hotspur and has ever since kept his placement, save for accident and illness. He played for England against Scotland in 1923-24-25 and has also appeared against Wales and Ireland, while the football league has called upon him several times for their most important matches. His great success was against Scotland at Hampden Park, Glasgow. Never disturbed by the importance of the occasion, Tunstall eschewa the ornamental for the useful. With a raking stride he gets swiftly along the wing, never resents the severest of tackles and delivers the ball with splendid centres. He went through the war and is a parcel of pluck. Of course he was in the Sheffield United team that won the cup against Cardiff in April, 1925.

Hocking started out well and won the first set 6-4. He out-volleyed Westwood and had an even break in the play from the back court. "Bud" is a splendid volleyer and rushed the net at every opportunity, where he made good use of his favorite strokes. In the second set Westwood came back strong and, sided by Hocking's errors ran out the set 6-3. The third set was all Hocking's. He won six games to one and the score is a fair indication of the play. Hocking played great tennis all through the ratch and deserved his win. # TUNSTALL STEPPED OUT Tunstall treated the spectators to another of his fast runs on the wing and finished off with a perfect centre into the goal-mouth when Wainscoat turned it into the net with his head for the fourth goal. After Shrimpton had saved two more shots Victoria went to the other end and Keeping, to save in a fast play-in front of the goal, kicked over the bar and the locals gained a corner which Clarkson failed to raise from the ground. Then came the most spectacular goal of the game. Cross beat Peden to the ball in mid-field and dodged his way through the entire Victoria back division, finishing off with a terrific shot, which went through for the fifth and last goal for the visitors. Coulter let go with another long Two Leading Ball Teams Will Battle - At Park To-night

Travelers Will be Hosts to Sons in Senior Fixture; Noble and Parfitt to Pitch

Another tight battle is looked for at the ball park to-night when the Travelers will occupy the attention of the Sons of Canada. "Allie" Mc-Gregor will call the game at 6.15 o'clock. Bob Whyte will again officiate on the bases.

Jack Noble and Ray Parfitt will oppose each other on the mound, the former for the Travelers and the latter for the Sons. Both boys have great control of the apple, besides plenty of stuff. A pitcher's duel may well be expected, unless the heavy sluggers on either of the teams upset the dope.

But two games now separate the samplemen and the natives in the league standing. A win for either to-night means a ict. If the Travelers cop the honors they will draw up to within one game of the leaders, but should the Sons come a through on the right end of the score they will atay well out in front with a three-game lead and a percentage of .777.

Kept Queen Mary Waiting in Royal Box Yesterday and Suzanne Refused to Play Match; Friends Say She Was Suffering From Hay Fever, While Other Excuse Is That She Would Not Play Singles Before Doubles

London, June 24.—Suzanne Lengien was the most talked-of woman in London to-day. She declined yesterday to play her matches in the Wimbledon tennis taurnament, to observe which Queen Mary had patiently waited in the royal box.

The French champion played this morning, but her friends stated that she was still very upset and nervous over yesterday's events, and much perturbed that she had disappointed the queen. They said she wept bitterly for a long time after the occurrence.

There were condemnation of and excuses for the French girl. Some laid the chief blame upon Suzanne, while others held the Wimbledon committee responsible for the flasco, because Suzanne was not notified of the scheduled games. There is no doubt that the French star was suffering from hay fever and was consequently below par, but she is criticized for not notifying the committee of her illness.

NEWSPAPER COMMENTS

The Westminster Gazette says had Mile, Lenglen notified the committee.

NEWSPAPER COMMENTS

The Westminster Gazette says had Mile. Lenglen notified the committee of her illness she would have had no scene and no misunderstanding; there would have been no necessity of disappointing the crowds, and the Queen would have been spared a "jar."

The Evening Standard said: "What would have happened if Miss Ryan had entered a very legitimate protest about facing Suzanne in the doubles after playing her singles match, when the Frenchwoman refused? Obviously Miss Ryan would have been playing under a disadvantage."

Max Decugis, the French captain, upheld Mile. Lenglen in not playing the singles match before the doubles.

"She simply refused." he said, "and I think she had a perfectly strong case. This doubles match is of supreme importance to Mile. Lenglen, for she is playing with Mile. Vlasto against the American pair, Miss Ryan and Miss Browne, who may easily be considered Suzanne's strongest opponents."

It was pointed out to M. Decugis that Miss Ryan had played her scheduled singles match at the start of the afternoon, yet was ready to play the doubles also. But to this the French captain merely shrugged.

English Footballers Leave Victoria To-day With Profound Impressions of Capital City; Manager Kingscote Admires the Spirit of Victoria Players and Lauds the Hospitality of Citizens

There has been a reciprocity in impressions as a result of the visit of the English football team to Victoria. Everyone who saw the game marvelled at the brilliance of the visitors. But the Englishmen left Victoria to-day with a very high regard for Victori footballers and for the people of the capital city generally. They regard Jack Coulter's refusal to score from a penalty kick in the second half a splendid piece of sportsmanship, and for the hospitality which Victoria tendered them they have only the deepest Regarding the hospitality of Victoria Mr. Kingscote said: "I cannot find words to express our thanks for the pleasure we have experienced during our visit to your city. Without speaking with disparagement of our visit to other cities in Canada, all of which have been very generous to us, I must say that Victoria has treated us best of all. Much of this has been due to Jimmy Adam, but I know he had good ground to work on and that the government and civic authorities willingly helped him. This is a grand place and there are grand people in it.

"We came here as pioneers to try and show you some of the finer points of the game," he related. "But we find that we can't teach you as much as we thought. We found the soccer better than we had expected. The one thing you lack is finish, but that doesn't come in five minutes. It requires practice. Train your children of to-day and in twenty years you will have first-class football."

Mr. Kingscote is greatly impressed with the possibilities of Canada, and as chairman of a school board, he intends on his return to England, to speak at schools and advise young men and women between twenty and twenty-five, to come to Canada.

"I will advise them to come to Canada and be willing to take any kind of a job for the first year until they find what they are properly fitted for," he added.

The banquet was presided over by Ald John Harvey. Hon. John Oliver, Ald Woodward. Ald. Cullin, Sam Javidson, secretary of the D.F.A. and J. V. Milton, president of the LLFA., spoke briefly during the evening.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, June 24 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—After early reactionary tendencies which represented chiefly the efforts of professionals to force a decline in the values, the market railied to-day and numerous stocks regained most of yesterday's losses. A better class of buying was attracted by the lower values and this helped by short covering turned market in it's upward course but at the present time the buying power seems to be awaiting developments of weakness and this marked hesitancy is probably due to the firming tendency of the call money rates.

Publication of Packard Motor's reports for the third quarter helped to move the motors. Willys Overland Common on a heavy turn over reached 28½ to the accompaniment of forecasts of a successful year for its new Whippet car. Traffic report for week of June disclosed that freight loading exceeded 1,000,000 cars.

New York, June 24 (By B.C. Canadian Paelfic achieved new high ground since 1919 and substantial advances occurred in Atchison, C and O and Nickel Plate. In addition to the outlook for early resubmission of the Van Sweringen merger proposal, the latter stock was aided by the Dow-Jones analysis, estimating 1926 earnings at $22 a share, a showing which would justify the present price for stock in the present market entirely aside from its consolidation prospects.

Fluctuations in the industrial list were so highly professional that they were of little significance except as illustrating the confusion existing in the speculative mind regarding the rimmediate course of f.ices. However, sentiment regarding the rails was generally constructive, due to the manner in which the current volume of railroad freight, as reflected in the weekly car loadings, maintains its lead over that of the same season in other years.

For the week of June 12 the gain volume of railroad freight, as reflected in the weekly car loadings, maintains its lead over that of the same season in other years.

For the week of June 12 the gain over last year was seven per cent. Over 1923, the previous high record for the week, the gain was five per cent. This does not mean, business doom proportions, but does indicate a full volume of trade, with some slight gains about proportioned to the growth in population.

The increase in revenus tonnage is hardly up to the percentage of gain in carloads, on account of the slightly larger proportion of merchandise and miscellaneous loadings and tendency to load cars lighter than in such years as 1923.

The last report, however, hard gains in loadings of coal and ore, commodities which make heavy-shipments per car. Another note-worthy feature of the latest report is that all districts show gains, both over the preceding week and over the same week in 1925 and 1924.

Even distribution of traffic gains over the country means wide-spread improvement in business conditions, while it enables the carriers to move the freight without congestion and at minimum expense.

Stocks developed a greatly improved tone around noon when prices were lifted from the motors following publication of the Packard earnings for third quarter of the company's fiscal year, which showed profits at record levels for the period.

Victoria bank clearings continue to climb.

Following a 25 per cent. in crease last week, the clearings total issued by the Clearings was responsible for the strong Liverpool cables. Black Sea shipments were 926,000 bushels. This market is suffering from the continued lack of outside demand and there does not transfer titself, however, in the face of very favorable crop prospects in Western Canada and the increasing hedging pressure in American markets are indicated and conservative position appears

Opening prices were about ¼ higher, based on firmer Liverpool cables and a fair buying on the part of millers and houses with Eastern connections. Trade sentiment later became mixed, but there was little disposition to press the short side. July closed at 1493% bid, a decline of ⅙, while December was ⅙ higher at 129¼. October was unchanged at 1313%. Coarse grains were inactive, on the market.

Export demand was only fair with sales of 200,000 bushels to 300,000 bushels in all positions; exporters estimated to have bought around one million bushels overnight.

Weather conditions in Northwest generally favorable for the crop. Corn and oats were affected somewhat by action of wheat and corn averaged somewhat higher. Trade expects Senate take action on farm relief bill late this afternoon. Rain being-received in Argentine to-day. There was buying of July and selling of December wheat, 7% c. difference.

NNETTE WINS EASILY

Annette, who halls from Bombay, continued on his way to the final round, when he defeated C. H. O'Halloran, former Kingston Street champion, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.
O'Halloran played his best tennis in the first set but could not fathom the wonderful defensive play of his opponent. It was expected that O'Halloran's style would worry Annette but such was not the case. He handled everything O'Halloran had with ease and confidence. He passed O'Halloran when he came to the net with drives down the lines and, when O'Halloran was in the back court, he ran him from corner to corner with his uncanny placements. By his victory Annette becomes a strong favorties for the title.

of Halloran was in the case corner with his uncanny placements. By his victory Annette becomes a strong favorite for the title.

Gerald Cunningham was given a good run in the second set by Oatman, who had forty love to make the score four all. At this stage Cunningham uncorked a series of tremendous drives and evened the point score at deuce, and won that game and the following one, to end the match. Cunningham now meets Gordon in what is virtually a semifinal. The winner of this match, which should be one of the best of the tournament, is conceded a place in the final round.

In the men's doubles the Cunningham brothers won a hard-hitting affair from Meredith and Mainguy, 6-4, 6-2. Westwood of Vancouver and Fairbairn continued to win inteir half of the draw, defeating Dick Edghill and Bert Flett, 6-3, 6-1, by superior steadiness.

Each carton is first sealed, then wax-wrapped and sealed again. It is proof against dust, moisture and foreign taints. Quaker Corn Flakes are as delicious and crisp when you take them out of the carton as when we put them in. Yet they cost no more than ordinary corn flakes.

Look for our money-back offer on the sealed waxwrapper of each carton. It is printed in red.
